WHAT IT TAKES

Our fifteen previous symposiums have taught young men in urban areas “what it takes” to be successful in work and life via relationships with caring, ethical, well-regarded men. Our mentors have backgrounds in business, finance, technology, medicine, law and athletics. And they provide the boys with ongoing emotional and academic support, with special attention paid to science, technology, engineering and mathematics careers. This is a mutually rewarding program with the potential to change lives. Visit UYRS.com/whatITtakes to watch our video and learn more.
